

Psalm 51

The imposter (about norms and values)

The psalm is composed in the dishonest atmosphere of diminished seventh chords, derived from a steady octotonic series in C. The original (adjusted) melody is stretched in the soprano. At the end comes the adaptation to G major.

Instrumentation can be done with recorders in soprano, alto and bass and alto saxophone in tenor.
